

Compliance with Article 3g of Council Regulation (EU) 2023/1214 EU and UK Russian Trade Sanctions

Appian Fasteners reaffirms its unwavering commitment to compliance with the latest Russian trade sanctions imposed by both the European Union (EU) and the United Kingdom (UK). These sanctions prohibit the import of specific iron and steel products that incorporate iron or steel inputs originating in Russia and undergo processing in other, 'third' countries. We maintain a steadfast dedication to respecting and adhering to all applicable legal requirements, and this extends to the new sanctions introduced by the EU and the UK.

In line with these regulations, Appian Fasteners is committed to ensuring that since 1st July 2023 it does not knowingly source or supply its customers with any products detailed in these sanctions that originate from or contain products originating in Russia or Belarus.

Appian Fasteners are dedicated to sourcing and supplying high quality products. Our aim is to support our customers' supply chain costs effectively, efficiently and sustainably, therefore in light of these developments, we continue to reassure customers that all approved/preferred suppliers and subcontractors are compliant with these regulatory requirements.
